Southbroom Golf Club

Situated on the lower South Coast of KZN is one of the area's more popular golfing courses, Southbroom. Thick indigenous forest, a host of bird and animal life, panoramic views of the tranquil Indian Ocean and superbly maintained facilities accompany the unique course which has been designed to offer up a different test of skill on each fairway.

Golf Digest has recently ranked Southbroom number 1 out of the top 30 fun courses in South Africa and 50th out of the top 100 courses overall in the country, this stands as a testament to the level of enjoyment you'll experience on the wonderfully manicured 18 hole par 72.

Established in 1934, Southbroom brings together the best of both the old world and the new with regular maintenance and impressive upgrades. In fact new water hazards and bunkers were added to the course recently and the fairways were significantly narrowed in an effort to bring out the best in the players ability.

So with tropical foliage, impressive views, top class facilities and a warm reception what's not to like at Southbroom. In 2009 they were rated the number most popular club in KwaZulu Natal so why not see for yourself what all the fuss is about.

Wild Coast Country Club

The Wild Coast Sun Country Club is a rugged beauty of a course. A first glance at the score card might suggest that this course is a bit of a push-over - less than 6 000 metres in length with six par threes. On face value this might seem so but in reality the Wild Coast Sun Country Club is one of South Africa's most testing layouts. Indeed renowned American golf course architect, Robert Trent Jones Jnr has created a dramatic golfing experience overlooking the Ocean.

This spectacular course is rated as one of SA's top 20 and is part of South Africa's Sunshine

Tour as well as being utilized in international tournaments. The course has been designed to make most of the spectacular natural setting on the unspoilt stretch of coast.

Every green has its own beauty and is challenging, especially the par 3 thirteenth hole where a driver is sometimes required when teeing off over the natural ravine and waterfall into the prevailing southwest wind.

Carts are compulsory but this does not detract from the competitive challenge. The course may be a daunting challenge for professionals and amateurs alike but its wide fairways and huge greens, attract golfers of all levels.

Selborne Country Club

Situated on the South Coast of KwaZulu-Natal and occupying some of the most sought after estate in the country, it is of little wonder that Selborne Park Golf Course has been rated one of the top golfing estates in South Africa.

In fact, described as the “Augusta of South Africa” Selborne Golf Course is one of the many courses in South Africa we can be truly proud of. Thankfully, playing here is open to the public.

A round here will involve weaving your well placed shots through wonderfully manicured fairways and lush coastal forest. The sound of wildlife will permeate throughout as the variety of animals and over 160 species of birds enjoy the natural habitat. They simply thrive in such conditions.

The course itself is an 18 hole par 72 which serves up a challenge to proficient players and an equally enjoyable round to the weekend warriors. Water features, sculpted bunker, forests and trails are but some of the noteworthy features here. But none so much as the signature par 5 third which curves and sweeps, downhill, through a thicket of trees until finally reaching the green, which is closely guarded by water.
